Granada and Sierra Nevada in Brief.....

Granada's dramatic alpine backdrop is the Sierra Nevada range, which extends about 75km from west to east and into Almería province. Its wild snow-capped peaks include the highest point in mainland Spain, while the lower reaches of the range, known as Las Alpujarras (sometimes just La Alpujarra), are dotted with tiny scenic villages. From July to early September, the higher elevations offer wonderful multiday trekking and day hikes. Outside of this period, there's risk of seriously inclement weather, but the lower Alpujarras are always welcoming, with most snow melting away by May.

The 862-sq-km Parque Nacional Sierra Nevada, Spain's largest national park, is home to 2100 of Spain's 7000 plant species, among them unique types of crocus, narcissus, thistle, clover, poppy and gentian. Andalucía's largest ibex population (about 5000) is here, too, frolicking above 2800m. Surrounding the national park at lower altitudes is the Parque Natural Sierra Nevada, with a lesser degree of protection.

Along the southern edge of the protected area, Las Alpujarras is a 70km-long jumble of valleys along the southern flank of the Sierra Nevada. It is a beautiful, diverse and even slightly strange place. Its landscape of arid slopes, deep crags and egg-white villages look as if they were spilled onto the mountainside, the towns on the mountain's lower belts simmer with spiritual seekers, long-term travelers and rat-race dropouts, while the higher villages have a disorienting timelessness.

Even the most-visited Alpujarran towns are appealing, as the villages' Berber-style flat-roofed houses and the winding lanes between them look out on hillsides that have been carefully terraced and irrigated since the earliest Moorish times. With well-trod footpaths connecting each settlement, it's a delightful area to explore on foot.

Torremolinos is a Mediterranean resort town on southern Spain's Costa del Sol, known for its sandy beaches such as El Bajondillo and La Carihuella. Nightlife, dining and shopping are centered on Calle San Miguel. Away from the beachfront and its high-rise hotels are several golf courses and amusement parks, as well as pockets of traditional Andalusian culture such as the village of El Calvario.

SIERRA NEVADA / GRANADA and TORREMOLINOS, SPAIN

March 10 – 19, 2018

There are few places in the world where you can ski in the morning then head to the coast for a swim in the afternoon, but the proximity of Sierra Nevada to the Med allows this. Don't be fooled into thinking that the skiing will be second rate either. 21 lifts serve 107 km of piste at the Sierra Nevada but it can get busy at the weekends with bottlenecks at the lifts. The pistes lend themselves to the intermediate but there is ample off-piste skiing for the advanced riders. Off the pistes, there are some good restaurants and lively bars. If you get bored or the snow is not as good in the Sierra Nevada, just head for a beach! A halfpipe was added to the snowpark Sulayr in 2011 (165m long and 6m high). It is the biggest in Spain. The snow junior world championship was celebrated in this park. It is the longest Slopestyle line in Europe with over 77 different obstacles and up 46 possible in any one run!

The Snowboard and Freestyle World Championships 2017 were hosted here in March.

As one of Europe's highest resorts it is very snowsure and typically has a long season. Traditionally the season starts around the end of November running through to the first week of May. The longest season on record was the winter of 2008/9 which ran from the 15th November 2008 until the 17th May 2009. Sierra Nevada literally means "Snowy Mountain Range" and it includes some of the highest peaks in Europe, not to mention the highest concentration of peaks over 3,000m in the country. The Mulhacen at 3,482m is the Iberian Peninsula's highest.

The ski terrain is majestically overlooked by the jagged glacier-formed Veleta peak at 3,398m, Spain's third highest after Aneto (3,404m) in the Pyrenees. Due to the altitude, the ski slopes are above the tree line and generally take the form of ski fields rather than narrow prepared tracks - something that favours the more nervous skier in particular as well as generally giving a sense of confidence all round, especially for off piste fanatics!

The Sierra Nevada ski resort offers its visitors a wide and ever expanding range of facilities as well as a ski terrain to suit skiers and boarders of all standards.

Pricing is only $2,199 for all this! Remember that pricing is not final until ticketing due to fluctuations in currency rates and airline surcharges/taxes. Contact trip leader Janet Graham Jones – 859.420.5016 or jgiones@uky.edu

LSSC TRIP TO CANAAN VALLEY & TIMBERLINE

February 11 – 14

Eighteen club members made the trip to West Virginia for our first local overnight trip in several years. We stayed at Canaan Valley Resort & Conference Center and skied at Canaan Valley on Monday and Timberline on Tuesday. Ski resorts are at the mercy of Mother Nature. For the days leading up to our trip, it looked like we were in for a wash-out. Fortunately, the rains held off until mid-afternoon on Tuesday, allowing us to get in almost two full days of skiing. While both resorts had some slopes closed, there was ample terrain for everyone to enjoy their skiing experience. These resorts have a lot to offer and I look forward to a return trip at some point in the future.

A big welcome goes to our new club members: Tom O'Donnell, Kate Wilford, Julian Fischer-Lhamon, Terry Chism, Ellie Todd, Mike Lhamon, and Tammy Johnson

The gang enjoying a delicious meal at Sirianni's Café on Tuesday evening.

LSSC TRIP TO STEAMBOAT SPRINGS

January 27 – February 3

Twenty-seven club members gathered in Steamboat for a wonderful week of skiing (twenty-two from the LSSC and five from the Dayton Ski Club). Most flew direct on Southwest out of Louisville to Denver and hopped a bus for a 4-hour scenic drive to Steamboat.

We stayed at the Phoenix, which was conveniently located near the slopes. In fact, it was almost ski-in/ski-out for those of us located on the lower side of the complex (sorry Barbara, Wendy, Theresa and Jena). Many of us took full advantage of the two outdoor hot tubs and heated pool. A number of us gathered in their large lounge area on Tuesday night to watch UK's exciting 83-81 overtime victory over Vanderbilt.

The OVSC treated us to a Welcome Reception on Sunday evening. Everyone enjoyed the food, drinks, door prizes, fun and fellowship of skiers/boarders from the LSSC, Dayton Ski & Board, and Skiers Limited Ski Club (from Columbus OH).

The OVSC also sponsored a picnic on the slopes on Tuesday. It was a perfect place and day. The sun was shining and most shed their ski jacket to soak up the rays as they enjoyed their lunch.

After skiing three consecutive days, many opted for something different on Wednesday. Some enjoyed a day of shopping, others a visit to Strawberry Park Hot Springs, still others went on a snowshoeing tour. Nine of us enjoyed a 4-hour snowmobiling adventure in Rabbit Ears Pass. The scenery was breathtaking.

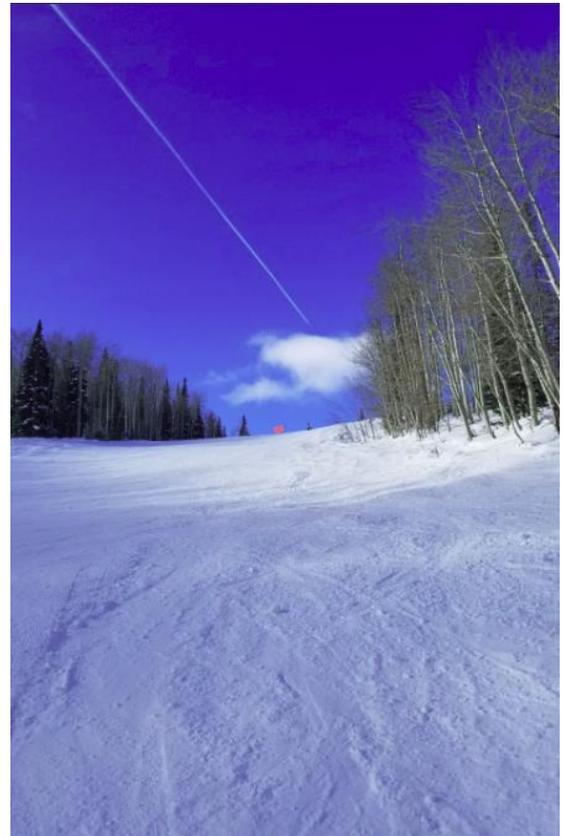

It was back to the slopes on Thursday and Friday. After lunch on Friday, at the suggestion of Bob Durborow, we participated in a Billy Kidd Ski Clinic. Billy Kidd won a silver medal in the 1964 Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria. I thought it would simply be a meet and greet and we would be on our way. Not the case. There were about 25 people in the clinic, eight of which were from the LSSC. As we had bright OVSC bandanas tied to our legs or arms, he initially focused his attention on us. As it turns out, he came to Lexington to speak at an OVSC Summit several years ago. As the Olympics were right around the corner, the focus of his clinic was to ensure we looked like we belonged in the Olympics – and that started with how we stand on the slopes. After we all passed the standing test, he proceeded to take us down a slope where he stopped several times to give us tips. It was both enjoyable and informative.

The OVSC sponsored a Farewell Dinner Friday evening on the slopes. We enjoyed a gondola ride to mid-mountain for dinner at Hazies. It was a nice way to end the week.

I would like to give a shout out to seven new LSSC members who joined us on the Steamboat trip. They are Pat Boggs, Andrew Morgan, David Eckmann, Jena King, Teresa Mitchell, and Tom and Beth O'Donnell.

Billy Kidd

Beautiful day on the slopes
